

My project will be about an agenda for you to organize your events or things to do, the idea of this agenda is that you can store what month, day, put a name of the event, start and end time.

first you will have a menu that will have three options which would be:

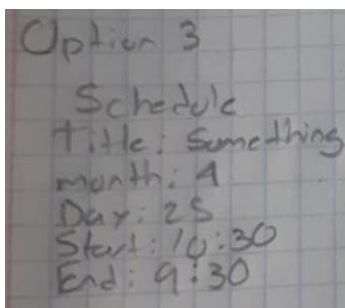

- 1- add reminder
- 2- delete reminder
- 3- view scheduled reminders

Selecting option one will ask us to write the name of the event, then it will ask for the month, the day, the start time and the end time and it will indicate that it is already scheduled.

Selecting option 3 we can see what we have scheduled, it will show the name of the event, month, day, start time and end time.

Finally selecting option 2 we will be able to erase what we have scheduled selecting specifically what we want to erase, this visualization will be simpler and only the name of the event will appear.
